Our Journey

At the age of 26, Ashok Deshmane left a high-paying IT job to serve the social cause of sheltering children of underprivileged farmers and Children from Maharashtra farmer suicides. He started a social project near Pune where the children have access to healthy food and quality education. What began with 18 children in 2015 is now a home for 180.

In the early days, Deshmane tried working night shifts in his job. However, nine months in, he realized that it wasn't possible for him to give his wholehearted attention to the children. He quit his job and embarked on this journey of goodwill. With the vow to support him and his cause, Archana joined him in this voyage. Serving a mother's role in the children's lives, she ensures that everyone is well fed, taught, and cared for.

Today, Ashok (31) and Archana (24) are dedicated to the cause and follow the path lightened by Swami Vivekanand and Baba Amte thru the 'Snehwan' initiative, a home where everyone stays together and eats together under one roof. Ashok's parents have also joined the couple on the journey.

Dr. Ravindra and Dr. Smita Kulkarni recognized Ashok's passion for the noble cause and donated 2 acres of land to Snehwan. Swami Vivekanand Library, Kamdhenu cow shelter, and a computer training center have been instated as a part of Snehwan.
